

Confidence by Design: Join Diana Gurwicz on Feb 18th

Most people think confidence comes from years of experience. I've learned it actually comes from something much more intentional: Design.

In my upcoming webinar, Design with Confidence, I'll be sharing how facilitation excellence is engineered from the ground up. We'll dive into how the INIFAC competencies do more than just improve our skills—they shape the very atmosphere of the room.

When we design with intention, participants don't just see a "competency"—they feel the results:

- Clarity in the process.
- Psychological safety to speak up.
- Momentum that keeps the group moving.

- Productive tension that leads to breakthroughs.
- Trust in the outcome.

Because at the end of the day, participants don't experience our credentials. They experience the sessions we design.

If you're ready to elevate your craft and create experiences your participants can truly feel, I'd love to see you there.

With appreciation,

Diana Mastel Gurwicz

Chair of the Board
